CHARGES AGAINST MR. SIMMONDS. The Late Patents Commissioner Accused of

Wrongful Acts. Washington, May 16 .- For some weeks past rumors have been in circulation in the | porters for five years. Interior Department which have brought into serious question the official conduct of W. E. Simmonds, late Commissioner of Patents. Several days ago one of the most prominent firms of patent attorneys in this bity wrote a letter to Commissoner Seymour, stating that they had received information from a source believed to be trustworthy that certain applications in the celebrated telephone case of Deniel Drawbaugh, in the secret archives of the Patent Office, had been copied under the authority of Mr. Simmonds while Commissioner, by parties outside of the Patent Office, all of which was contrary to the law. They asked that an official investigation be held and that they be informed of the facts in order that they might take such sction as the interests of their clients

Upon the matter coming to the attention of Secretary Smith he immediately ordered an investigation which, it is understood, is practically completed. It is stated, however, that the forthcoming report of the investigation will contain facts of a character not easily explainable. It is also rumored that other important applications pending in the Patent Office have also been copied in violation of law. It is further stated that during the latter part of Mr. immonds's administration of the Patent Office he compiled a pamphlet containing ninety-six pages of closely printed matter, entitled "Condensed Treatise on Law of Patents." This pamphlet, which contained approximately fifty-five thousand words, is said to have been typewritten by government clerks during office hours. Other allegations of an equally serious character are made by persons who claim to be in a position to know the facts,

IMMIGRATION INVESTIGATION.

The Senate Committee Begins Work at New York-Hill Questions Dr. Senney.

NEW YORK, May 16.-The Senate committee on immigration met at the Hotel Normandle to-day. Those present were David B. Hill, Wm. E. Chandler, W. C. Squire, Redfield Proctor, Charles Faulkner and F. T. Dubois. There were also present Dr. Senney, Commissioner of Immigration, and Herman Stump, Superintendent of immigration. Dr. Senney gave a detailed account of his doings since his arrival in this country in 18:0. He also explained at length the workings of his department, and declared that political "pulls" played little part in the appointment of men in the different departments of the bureau. Speaking of the Italian immigrants, the Doctor said that 65 per cent. of these immigrants came here with the intention of returning in a comparatively short time.

In rapid succession Senator Hill asked the Doctor what he had done since he came to this country, and whether he wrote editorials on the immigration question. Then he wanted to know when he was ap-

The most the Doctor would say was that he was recommended by a friend by letter and that Secretary, Carlisle told him that he was appointed because he was neither a "snapper" nor an "anti-snapper." Senstor Hill continued to question the witness closely in this direction, Senator Faulkner objecting. Senator Hill finally switched off and put practical questions to the witness. The Doctor said that this country had need of the immigrants. The farmers needed hands and the demand for servant girls was very

West was the best class. In answer to a question by Senator Squire, Dr. Senney said that the best class of immigrants would be in favor of a graded head tax on immigrants. In regard to pauper immigrants, the Doctor said that a man with strong arms and good health who was willing to work was no pauper. There is no way, he said, of determining the question of Anarchists and Socialists. The Italian immigration question was a question by itself. Edmund Stephenson, commissioner of immigration, who was next examined, said that to counteract the evils of pauper immigration he would recommend than a tax of $5 a head be imposed and a guarantee be given that all immigrants be solf-sup-

NORMAL'S BANK FAILURE.

Many Students Caught for Small Sums Liabilities Estimated at $90,000.

Special to the Indianapo is Journal, BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 16. - An estimate places the Normal bank liabilities at $90 -000 and assets at $73,000. The failure is in no way the result of the failure of the Columbia bank. Hundreds of students of the State Normal University were depositors of small sums in Schureman's bank and many of them are now penniless, temporarily at least. Normal township city and school funds are among the liabilities to the extent of $20,000. Schureman has been making injudicious speculative investments.

Foreman of the Cronin Jury Missing. CHICAGO, May 16 .- B. F. Clarke, the real estate agent, is missing, and about twentyfive of his creditors have instituted a search to discover his whereabouts. Clarke made a voluntary assignment, May 1. Since that time he has not been seen Chicago. An investigation of his business methods is being conducted by the attorneys who represent various creditors, and it is claimed that he is short over $50,000. Clark's name became familiar several years ago as foreman of the jury in the Cronin case.

Other Business Troubles. CHARLESTON, S. C., May 16,-The doors of the Bank of the Carolinas, with home office at Florence, this State, closed to-day, with a notice of temporary suspension until a meeting of the directors. Another Serious Crevasse, NEW ORLEANS. May 16.-News was received here this morning that the Grand lake levee, Arkansas, broke at 9 o'clock last night. This is two miles above Carriola, Ark., and about ten miles from Lake Port. The break is five hundred feet wide and will prove serious. A severe storm prevailed along the river on Sunday night in north Louisiana and south Arkansas, and the Arkansas break is the result. Grand lake is an old slough of the river. and the levee is built between the lake and the river. The water flowing through the erevasse will go into Bayou Mason. which is only about five miles away, and it is doubtful if the Mason, which is already nearly bank tall, will be able to to receive more of that unfortunate class,

FUNERAL OF PRICE AND TURLEY. Thousands Followed One, While Hardly

Tear Was Shed for the Other.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SEYMOUR, Ind., May 16 .- The funeral of Louis F. Price took place from the First M. E. Church, in this city, this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and it was one of the largest in the history of the city. Belegations from Mitchell, Shoals, Washington, Brownstown, Medora, North Vernon and other points along the various lines entering this city were present and over three hundred men were in line who represented the K. of P. and O. R. C. lodges. The floral tributes were many, and the finest ever seen in this city. The remains were interred in Riverview Cemetery. This morning his slayer, John Turley, was also buried. The contrast of the funerals was striking. One coffin was borne by loving hands and bleeding hearts, and followed by by thousands of people to his last resting place, while hardly a corporal's guard could be found to act as pallbearers for the other, and the only mourners were members of the family. He was lowered into his grave without a friendly tear be-

FOUR CONVICTS ESCAPE,

A Secret Tunnel Dug from their Cell in Jeffersonville Prison, 5 Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., May 16 .- Four convicts, named Robert Adams, Nathan Bell, William Nelson and Frank McCarty. escaped from the Prison South last night. The men were confined in two adjoining cells, and have for some weeks been engaged in digging a tunnel, which is twelve feet long. two feet in diameter and about two feet under ground, extending from directly under the cells to the yards, on the north side of the cell-house. The men had only their hands and knives to work with. The dirt which they removed from the tunnel was put in sacks made from shirts and replaced in the tunnel during the day, and thus concealed their work from the guards.

The prisoners had loosened a stone in the bottom of their cell so that it could be taken out and then replaced, and as the floor was covered with carpet it escaped the eyes of the watchers. All of the men were sentenced for burgiary, and were notorious criminals, two of them having served four terms previous to this. The men have thus far made good their escape.

UNDERTAKERS IN SESSION, Annual Convention of the Indiana Fraternity Which Looks After the Dead, special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., May 16 .- The second annual session of the Undertakers' Association of Indiana is in session in this city, at the I. O. O. F. Hall, and will be in session over to-morrow. The meetings are presided over by President Buchanan, of Marion, Rev. W. R. Howe offered prayer. and an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Bandel, which was responded to by M. S. Johnson of Carthage. The president then appointed the committees on credentials and finance. The prestdent delivered his annual address, which was referred to a committee composed of D. C. Barnhill, of Crawfordsville; Mr. McCullough, of Idaville, and Mr. Newman, of Mount Vernon. Dr. John N. Taylor, of the State Board of Health, read a paper on "Sanitary Burial." He showed the importance of having cein eteries situated on high ground, having good drainage and a soil of a sandy nature. In cities where epidemics have raged it has been shown that the disease began in vicinities of graveyards. A burial place should be a mile away from the limits of any town in order to insure the inhabitants protection from epidemics. Dr. Taylor also brought out the fact that a person who dies with a contagious disease should never be removed after burial, as such things have brought on epidemics. He also impressed the importance of living up strictly to the law in the matter of interment of persons dying from contagious disease, and fully explained the law, which requires bodies to be placed in sealed

MUNCIE, Ind., May 16.-Jerre Sullivan. an employe at the Darnell iron works, today experienced a very painful injury, and his endurance likely saved the lives of a half dozen men. He was drawing a ball of molten pigliron from the furnace to transfer it on the overhead railway to the squeezer. The ball was on the end of a large pair of tongs, and proved too heavy. It swung directly over a pool of water, and Sullivan was raised in the air, a bar of iron pieroing his right arm at the elbow. The young man recognized the perilous situation should he let loose, for the ball would fall in the water and a terrible explosion would likely result in a half dozen deaths. The men saw the danger and ran from the mill. and it was some time before any of them would venture to release him. The muscles of the arm were torn in shreds by the bar of iron.

MOUNTAIN FROM A MOLEHILL

Charges Against the Management of the To Fort Wayne Institution Not Good.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 16.-The investigation of the alleged abuses at the Indiana Asylum for Feeble-minded Youths began this morning before the commission consisting of Timothy Nicholson, John R. Elder and Alexander Johnson. The charges made by Mr. Webber were taken up in their order and explained fully by acting Superintendent James H. Leonard, Whether the explanation will be satisfactory or not remains with the Governor. The most important charge made to-day was that William Blake, brother of Superintendent Blake, has received boarding and other attendance for a period of about eight months out of the past twelve months, no charge ever having been made for the same. He was in no manner employed at the institution. Mr. Hackett testified that he was present with the full knowledge and consent and approval of the board; that the superintendent had no family of his own; that the brother was very useful and that his services were considered an equivalent for his board; that if the superintendent had a family of a half dozen he would have been entitled by virtue of his office to bave them live at the institution at the State's expense. This explanation of the trustee was regarded as so complete that no further evidence was asked for. This afternoon was taken up with an examination of the books to determine as to their correctness and the charges of cruelty to children, but the latter charges were not sustained and the board adjourned until Wednesday morning.

One Falsehood Exposed,

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: I notice in the investigation of the School for Feeble-minded that one witness charged that bright boys were transferred from the Reform School to increase the numbers there. This is false, and the witness knew it to be false. Until a few years ago as many feeble-minded boys were sent to the Reform School as were sent to the school for that class. When it was opened bere and at the request of the board of control here, I applied to have our feeble-minded lads transferred. It was referred to Attorney-general Michener, and he authorized the transfer. A very careful selection was made, and the boys were sent where they would have been sent in the first place had not have been sent in the first place, had not nearly all applications for admission then been refused. If these discharged em-ployes can find no better charges against the management of that school than this one, it will soon end. The Governor has in his possession a complete list of the boys so transferred, and I hope the Board of State Charities will carefully investigate as to the fitness of each of those boys. The public will then see that malice and hate have but little regard for the truth. T. J. CHARLTON, Superintendent.

PLAINFIELD, Ind., May 16.

STRIKE AT EVANSVILLE, Private and Public Improvements at Evansville Stopped by a Strike.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 16 .- The building outlook here is discouraging. The planing mill hands have struck for a 21/2 cent raise per hour, and nine hours' work instead of ten. The union carpenters are in sympathy with the strikers and refuse to handle nonunion mill work, which some of the mills are beginning to furnish. The result is many carpenters have been thrown out of work. All other union carpenters are threatening to strike in a body. This has resulted in a meeting of boss contractors, and they threaten to play even with their men by discharging all union men and employing reasonable work man men and employing non-union work men. By doing this they claim contracts for building can be carried out. If a move of this kind be made other labor organizations, including bricklayers, plasterers, tinners, plumbers and others, will take sides with the strikers and locked-out carpenters, and will bring all kinds of work to a close. A dozen or more meetings are being held nightly, and a great contest is likely to be precipitated very shortly. A stagnation in building and business circles will probably follow.

United Brethren Quadrennial.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DUBLIN, Ind., May 16,-The twentyfirst quadrenniel session of the General Conference of the United Brethren Church will convene at Hudson, Ind., on Thursday of this week. Bishop Floyd, D. D., Rev. Z. McNew and Rev. William Oler, of thi place, and J. W. Sharp, of Knightstown, will comprise the delegates for the White River Conference. As the property of this church has been in dispute and in the courts for the last year, and as the United States Court has decided in favor of the conservative or radical body, grave responsibilities and business of great impor-tance will come before the conference. which will be in session two weeks or

Mrs. Kersting Will Go Free, Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

KNOX, Ind., May 16 .- The case against Ernestina Kersting for the murder of her stepfather, Nicholas Gerardy, near San Pierre, Sept. 1, will be dismissed by the prosecutor next Tuesday. She was assisted in the crime by her mother, Catherine Gerardy, who is doing two years in the Female Reformatory. Mrs. Kersting was tried once, sentenced to five years in the reformatory, received a new trial and has been out on bail. The evidence in her mother's trial was that Mrs. Kersting did not administer the blow that caused death.

children and tifty attendants with the children, eight physicians to see the children at the station before embarking far Fairview, and eighty visitors. Of the children 105 were less than two years old. The total attendance at the camp was 3,375, and the average daily attendance fifty-six. The receipts from individual, church and various sources for carrying on the work were $1,584.84 and the expenses $1,582.83. The assets of the institution amount to $1,461.62. The daily contributions for the two summers the mission has been in existence have been reported by the press, and the benefit of example kept the society in funds the entire season. Secretary Charles Smith read a report of the executive committee, which introduced several decided changes in the plane of management for the coming season. They were acted on separately as read. The first was to the effect that a matron, who should be competent to have full charge of the camp, should be appointed. This was very generally discussed and a few thought it would interfere with the work heretofore performed by the visitors from the Flower Mission. This was shown not to be the case and the question of a matron was decided in the affirmative. The second was to hire a cook at $4 per week; to have one nurse at $15 per week; a messenger or errand boy at 50 cents per day; and a constable or keeper to have charge of the grounds, with police powers, and who should remain at the camp all night to protect the property; that all schools of medicine should be represented on the physicians' committee, and that the mission should open Tuesday. June 6. provided the weather is favorable. This is one week earlier than before, It was decided that a nurse should be chosen from the Flower Mission Training in the matter. Mr. Cartensen made a suggestion as to the feasibility of having one of the sisterhood of the Episcopal Church take charge of the district na rsing. This was accepted. and Mr. Carstensen was appointed to inquire. If one can be secured, well and good, and if not, it was thought best to have the matron, a practical nurse as well as matron. The several open questions will be reported on later.

Fire Test at the Insane Hospital. A test was made, yesterday afternoon, at the insane hospital, of the efficiency of the fire corps recently organized. In one minute and thirty seconds after the hose lines were laid water was thrown on the buildings from several of the hydrants. While the "fire department" worked on supposed fire the "rescue party" made a line in the rear. The super-Visors of the twenty-three wards in the hospital had everything working like clock work. Clerk Mayer was a factor in this prompt work. The water supply at the hospital is ample.

Walter Escott Claims to Have Been Assaulted by Three Strangers Near the Grand.

The report of a pistol rang out last night about 12:30 o'clock, in the neighborhood of the Grand Hotel, and there was a rush of officers to the spot. Merchant policeman Breen was the first to arrive, and he placed under arrest a young man having a self-acting smoking revolver in hand. He said that three young men had assaulted him, striking him in the head with a weapon of some kind, and that in self-protection he fired. Patrolmen Corhan and Smith arrested a party of young men who, it is charged, were they who had provoked the assault. They seemed to be somewhat under the influence of liquor. They had evidently been engaged in some kind of a fight, for they bore the marks of

A bystander said that when the assailants first struck the shootist he had severally knocked them down, and it was then that they hit him with the missile which caused him to shoot. The bullet flew wild and did no barm. There was much confusion among those who heard the shot, and it seemed impossible to get a story involving a motive for the combat other than that of a drunken crowd insulting a passerby. The one who fired the shot was a young man, very neatly and stylishly dressed, and after his arrest be had nothing to say. He gave the name of Walter A. Escott, but refused to tell anything about himself. The two young men arrested with him were Ben Hatfield and John Many.

Death of Dr. Brown. Dr. W. H. Brown, one of the oldest physicians in Indianapolis, died yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 28 West New York street. He suffered the amputation of a limu last Friday, having been long afflicted with gangrene, which made the operation necessary. He leaves a large To Inspect the Public Schools.

blood-purifier that's guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and this is what is done with it; if it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you get your money back. Isn't it likely to be the best? All the year round, as well at one time as another, it cleanses and purifles the system. All blood-poisons must go.
